

Housing Law Services Center – Housing Hotline

ICLS has a telephone “hotline” for low- income eligible clients to receive free legal advice in housing matters. Attorney supervised paralegals respond to hotline calls including private, public and senior housing and mobile homes.

Inland Counties Legal Services (ICLS)

ICLS provides free legal assistance to low-income persons. Primary law practice areas are family law, landlord/tenant, elder law, consumer debt and public benefits. To find out if you qualify for free legal assistance, call the ICLS office nearest to you.

FREE Civil Legal Assistance

ICLS's Banning Court Access Project provides free legal information and guidance on civil legal topics to either side (plaintiff or defendant) of a case. This includes Landlord/Tenant, debt collections, minor personal injury – auto accidents, civil harassment, small claims and family law.

Handouts, pamphlets and materials on a variety of legal subjects are available. Help with document preparation is also available for low-income consumers who are U.S. Citizens, legal permanent residents (LPR), or in some cases, who have filed to adjust their status or who have attained or filed for legal status.

Limited services are offered and there is no attorney representation at this project. You may also be given an office appointment at one of the ICLS Offices.
